Scripture For The Week

God is our refuge and strength, an ever present help in trouble.

PSALM 46:1

Hello from Iraq

The following are excerpts from a letter from Petty Officer Chris Combs who is serving in Iraq. Jyl and Leon (aka Scoop)

Just wanted to drop you a line and thank you for all your support. It's truly amazing how much a little news from home can cheer a guy up. I really enjoyed our piece "Doodles" about Peace on Earth. I read Ethel Mace. I always enjoy LeRoy Jones' article of course. I guess what I'm trying to say is, I now read it from cover to cover.

I'll be headed back to Camp Pendleton around the 27th of February. I'll be there for about 4 or 5 days then fly to Corpus Christi to check in and hopefully fly out of there to Oklahoma City on or around Saturday, the 5th of March, so if you could drop a line letting everyone know that I thank them for all the cards, letters, and packages and to stop the correspondence around the 3rd week in January I would appreciate it. The mail (packages) usually takes at the most a month; letters around 2-3 weeks, so anything sent after that day I may not receive it.

Thanks once again for all of the Mountain View support. Mountain View is definitely a great town to be from.

School Superintendent announces changes due to snow day

Tune in to t.v. and radio for school closing/weather information

Paul Squires, Mountain View-Gotebo Superintendent announced this week, "Because of the ice storm of Wednesday, January 5th, we must make up that day of school. The day to replace the day missed is Friday, March 25th."

Mrs. Squires, added, "We sincerely hop that we do not have to dismiss again because of bad weather. The call on weather is one of the most difficult decisions that administration has to make. The safety of the students and staff takes precedence over all other factors. Sometimes Mother Nature changes her mind and throws in a curve that makes us look foolish, but I will try to make the best choice possible given the conditions and information available at 6 A.M. In the event we must dismiss, watch Channel 4,5,9 and 7 and listen to Hobart, Cordell and Weatherford radio stations for information. Because of a new state Board of Education regulation, we will not start school late, but bus routes may be run late and every consideration possible will be given to students who have difficulty getting to school."
